Project

Evaluation of knowledge, attitude, practice, and risk of developing varicose vein among employees - Namakkal district. GIS Science Journal. 2024;11(10).

Description- Varicose veins are a common condition linked to certain occupations. This study shows that age, gender, BMI, occupation, standing time, and work years increase the risk. We found low awareness of compression stockings and recommend education on their use and other non-pharmacological treatments to prevent varicose veins.
